Prayer request:

Pray for Andrew as he begins his training. The goal is to have him flying by January. Pray for strength, endurance, the ability to learn and perform everything he must do. But at the same time pray for reliance on the Lord rather than self-reliance; pray for peace to trust the Lord with his training rather than comparing his skills or rate of progress with that of others; and pray for our marriage during this busy season approaching. Pray that Anna would be a good helper to Andrew and not begrudge the amount of time and energy this training will require of him. Pray that we would show grace and understanding to one another (it's always harder to do when you are tired!)

Praises:

-God is really taking such good care of us. He has given us an incredible blessing by allowing us to live in the same country as Andrew's parents. In them, He has given us the gift of family, wise counselors, helpers, and friends.
-God is growing our marriage, and continues to teach us about Him.
-He is a good Father Who enjoys delighting His children! Here are some examples: the day we planned to go buy a washing machine a family asked us to watch theirs for a year; Andrew thoroughly enjoys having a maintenance project to work on, and so far since we've arrived he has never lacked for one. God uses that to bless both him and the recipients of the things he has fixed; this is a silly one, but it blessed my heart so I will share it 😊 Dairy products are a difficult commodity to find here, but the same week Anna was missing ice cream, Andrew's Dad found a really yummy kind in the store!
